CITIZEN BRIEF: NO PROVISIONS FOR KINGS
(THE ONE BIG BEAUTIFUL BILL)

I.

For anyone willing to focus on Methodology over Ideology,
Or committed to having no provisions for Kings,
Or committed to having a more just rule of law.
This is a civic message.
You can print it.
You can carry it.
You can pass it on.

———

II. What Was Passed In The House

The One Big Beautiful Bill was passed in the House on May 22, 2025.

It institutes major changes that affect immigration, taxes, firearm deregulation, clean energy, Medicare, and Federal authority and Judicial power.

Most people are focused on what is being cut or extended, but there is one clause that changes the way power is expressed in the United States Government.

———

III. Federal Authority and Judicial Disempowerment

"SEC. 70302. RESTRICTION OF FUNDS.

No court of the United States may use appropriated funds to enforce a contempt citation for failure to comply with an injunction or temporary restraining order if no security was given when the injunction or order was issued pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65(c), whether issued before, on, or subsequent to the date of enactment of this section."

This clause doesn't just undermine judicial authority, it neutralizes it. It creates a legal way for agencies or agents (ICE and DHS) to ignore court injunctions or restraining orders. It replaces key functional checks and balances with procedural loopholes that these agents can exploit. This is particularly dangerous in cases where marginalized people or civil society groups are seeking urgent protections.

In plain language, the clause would read:

If a federal court issues a restraining order or injunction against a federal agency or official, and they decide not to comply, unless a financial bond (called a "security") is posted, the court cannot use any funds to enforce its own rulings. In practice, this renders the injunction or restraining orders unenforceable. Financial bonds in civil rights or humanitarian cases are rarely issued because plaintiffs are not seeking monetary damages, but rather, they are trying to prevent harm.

This clause gives ICE, DHS, and the President the ability to ignore the law without judicial consequences. A court may still issue an order, but under this clause, they are barred from taking enforcement action when that order is defied.

These agencies can ignore court orders to stop acts of violence, unconstitutional detentions, or unlawful deportations, whether targeting non-citizens or citizens.

IV. Why It Matters

Courts are losing the ability to restrain unlawful executive action.
ICE, DHS, and federal agencies may act with effective immunity in time-sensitive cases.
This is not speculative. They are already refusing to comply with court orders.

If passed in the Senate, this clause would allow legal disobedience from all federal agencies. Breaking court orders would be protected under the color of the law.

This is a procedural coup.
It doesn't break democracy.

It just quietly replaces it,
In a single paragraph,
Hidden in legal language,
With a new level of authority
That no longer needs permission.

V. Why July 4th Matters

Senate leaders have signaled that they plan to finalize this bill by July 4, 2025.

This date is not a coincidence.
It is not accidental.
It is precise.

The founding moment of American Independence and freedom may be transformed, from a celebration of the people's independence to the day when the executive branch declares independence from the courts and the will of the people.

You are not too late.
You are on time.
This doesn't need to be
The year the republic dies.

VI. What You Can Do

1. Call your senators this week.

   Ask:
   "Do you support the clause that prevents courts from enforcing their own orders?"
   "Why is the judiciary being silenced by a funding clause?"
   "Are you willing to give your power to a single branch of government?"

   Tell them:
   "Don't let the death of democracy be your legacy."
   "You will be remembered for what you protect, not just what you pass."
   "The next generation is already listening."

2. Print and carry this brief.
   Place it where people gather.
   Send it to those you trust.

3. Remember.
   Do not panic.
   Do not perform.
   Act.

VII. Closing

This is not an organization to join.
There is no meeting to attend.
This is a brief moment in time
Where you still have the chance
To protect what must be protected.

Speak what is true.
Know the risk of silence.
Now is not a time for reaction,
It is the time for collective response.

Empower others to speak.
Let your speech be centered,
Clear, and without performance.

It is harder for them
To dismiss the truth
That is spoken
Through calm discernment,
Than it is for them
To dismiss the voice that screams.

This calm, unmovable discernment
Tells them, "This is not a reaction."
This will sustain.
